As we approach the new year, it's an ideal moment to contemplate our aspirations and set positive goals that enhance overall wellbeing. Beyond common fitness resolutions, focusing on holistic self-improvement through new skills or hobbies is equally crucial. Exploring a new hobby, whether painting, playing an instrument, gardening, or cooking, can bring joy and personal growth. Reading more is a fantastic way to expand horizons and gain knowledge. Consider volunteering to give back to your community, fostering a sense of purpose and happiness. Prioritize nurturing relationships with friends and family, allocating quality time for meaningful connections. Embrace lifelong learning by acquiring a new skill, whether a language, cooking, coding, or a craft. Establish boundaries for technology use to enhance mental wellbeing, dedicating time to self-reflection or quality moments with loved ones. Setting diverse and positive goals for the new year contributes to personal growth, fulfillment, and a more balanced and mindful life. Approach the upcoming year with enthusiasm and the determination to become the best version of yourself.

See below for merit awards that our students can qualify for.

We highly encourage our seniors to look into APU and apply! Their application is still open.

Staff Spotlight

Joseph Carrillo came to us from West Covina Unified. We are so lucky to have gotten him here as one of our Special Education teachers. Not only is he a fan favorite in the class, but on the football field as well. Don't let his tall stature intimidate you, he is the nicest guy you'll ever meet. He is a good sport on and off the field. Some would say he is a bit of a jokester, although currently the joke is on him. Have you seen his Christmas tree?
